

USE OF COMPUTER RESOURCES POLICY

The Stonehenge Public Library operates under the Barcoo Regional Library Services and provides access to computer equipment, programs, databases and the Internet (collectively the computer resources) for informational and educational purposes. All users of library computers are expected to use the resources responsibly, respecting the right of others and the integrity of the physical facilities.

The Library provides selected computer programs for your use. Computer use is restricted to these programs only.

Uses of resources and services which are unacceptable include:

1. Violation of any computer system security or change of default settings.
2. Copying of software or violation of software license agreements.
3. Loading your own program disk on Library computers.
4. Unauthorised copying of copyright or other protected material.
5. Use for other than ethical purposes.
6. Display of offensive or inappropriate materials on computer screen.

The Stonehenge Library has not undertaken to provide computer or internet instruction courses. Staff are unable to provide prolonged assistance at the computer.

The council assumes no responsibility for any damages, direct or indirect, arising from use of its computer resources.

Bookings may be made for one hour sessions. If no-one is booked after your session, you may continue until the computer is required by another patron.

Use of the Library's computers is deemed as acceptance of these conditions. Those who infringe these condition may have their computer use restricted or removed.
